

Information –
if you value it then
Ringfence™ it.

Information is a key 21st Century resource

In today's increasingly complex digital world, Information and highly confidential data have become essential resources that can make or break organisations, personal reputations and the bottom line.

Ultimately the board of directors is responsible for looking after Information and confidential data properly and the consequences of a data breach, including any financial penalties. From May 2018 new European legislation will see potential fines increase to EUR 20M or 4% of global turnover – whichever is the greater.

But it's not all gloom and doom. Companies that invest in Information Assurance and have appropriate Information Governance and operating processes in place enjoy greater customer confidence, improved efficiency, enhanced profitability and real competitive advantage.

Make sure you're not at risk

Are you confident that you are looking after information properly and getting the most from it?

For some organisations an independent Ringfence™ assessment might be all that's needed to confirm your Information is secure and well managed. If any risks or compliance gaps are identified we'll make recommendations for improvement.

A high-level Ringfence™ review and assessment will typically take from two to five days, depending upon your organisation's size & complexity, and costs from £2,000 (plus VAT).

Please visit www.ringfence.solutions for more information.

Protect yourself, and your organisation

Ringfence™ can also provide specialist resources and expertise to help with:

- understanding exactly where your gaps are and the options for addressing them
- scoping any Information Governance improvements needed
- embedding better Information Governance into your organisation's DNA through structured programmes of work

Realise the wider benefits

By investing in Information Assurance and Governance you will:

- protect yourself and your organisation's reputation
- reduce the risk of data breaches and subsequent financial penalties
- improve your competitiveness, particularly with customers increasingly demanding greater Information Assurance
- improve your internal ownership and management of Information, leading to better data quality and more informed decision making

Almost a third of UK firms have no cyber response plan in place.

PwC's Global Economy Survey, 2016

Investors are reluctant to put funds into hacked businesses.

KPMG's Global Institutional Investors, 2015

75% of customers would reconsider using a company in event of a data breach.

Deloitte's Report 'Consumer data under attack: the growing threat of cyber crime', 2015

Ringfence™

Digitally Assured

Ringfence™ was founded by Ben Meade who has over 24 years' experience leading and delivering Information related improvements across a wide range of organisations in different sectors, both globally and in the UK.

Ringfence™ provides specialist and independent Information Governance & Assurance expertise, consultancy and advice. Ringfence™ can also provide Information Technology, Information Security, Change and Programme Management advice and support to help deliver Information Governance improvements, either directly or through a wider network of trusted partner organisations.

The Ringfence™ philosophy is that Information should be looked after properly – in the same way that managers look after people, budgets, premises, suppliers and customers properly. By doing this organisations and individuals are kept safer and achieve more.

0113 320 0407 | info@ringfence.solutions | www.ringfence.solutions

